CASE# 2006 - 68

Amendment to the Text of the Sangamon County Zoning Ordinance
Regarding Biodiesel Plants, Ethanol Plants, and Banquet Halls
as CPUs in the Agricultural Zoning District

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

Recommend approval.

Currently biodiesel plants and ethanol plants are only allowed in the I-2 District because of the industrial nature of their operation. It is recognized however that the raw materials for production at these plants can be agricultural products and location in an agricultural zoning district may be appropriate. Because of potential impact on adjacent properties, review as a conditional permitted use would assure compatibility with nearby land uses.

Likewise, banquet halls are currently allowed in any commercial or industrial zoning district. There are some locations however where the country aesthetics and special circumstances of a property would suggest a banquet hall would be appropriate in an agricultural zoning district but only if no negative impact on properties in the area would occur. Review as a conditional permitted use would assure compatibility with nearby land uses.
